TOOTHACHE.

To have it our or not-that is the question ; Whether 'tis better for the jaws to suffer The pange and torments of an aching tooth, Or to take steel against a host of troubles And by extracting, end them ? To pull-to tug-No more; and by a tag to say we end The toothsche, and a thousand natural ills The jaw is beir to—'tis a consummation Devoutly to be wished. To pull-to tag-To tug! perchance to break-sy, there's the rub; For in that wrench what agonies may come, When we have half dislodged the stubborn foe, Must give a pause; there's the respect That makes an aching tooth of so long a life; For who would bear the whips and stings of pal The old wife's nostrum, dentists' contun The pangs of hope deferred, kind sleep delay, When he himself might his quietus make For one poor shilling? Who would fardels bear, To group and sink beneath a load of pain, But that the dread of something lodged within, The linen twisted forceps, from whose pangs No jaw at ease returns, puzzles the will And makes it rather bear the ills it has Than fly to others that it knows not of? Thus dentists do make cowards of us all : And thus the native line of resolution Is sicklied o'er with the pale cast of fear; And many a one whose courage seeks the door With this regard his footsteps turns away, Scared at the name of dentist.

WILSON & MUSSER,

[Successors to J. F. Theek.] In Miller Bros. Block, South Side of Iron Canal Bridge,

Would respectfully absounce to the citizens of Henry and adjoining counties that they have bought out the stock of J. F. Theek and that they are now receiving a full assortment, of all kinds of furniture to which we invite the public to call and examine for themselves. Our expenses are very small, which will enable us to sell goods at very low prices, as we are buying all our goods for not cash and will sell for cash only. In addition to our Furniture we have a fine line of Undertakers goods,

Coffins and Caskets of all kinds, Shrouds, Burial Clothes, etc., A practical invention secured to us is Greeg's Patent Canopy Cooling Board, by the use of which a corpse can be kept in a good state of preservation for two weeks during the hotest season of the year. We have a fine house which is always at the service of the public.

We have also secured the services of Mr.Theck, who will be happy to attend to the wants of his old customers and as many new once as will make it convenient to call. Paraltura manufactured to order; also all kinds of repairing done to order in a workmaniks manner and en short notice.

Respectfully, WILSON & MUSSER.
